Why use a Claims Management Company ?

- My ceiling and walls have been damaged by a leak and my insurer won't send someone to fix it.
- The insurance company appointed a team of builders, but they are really messing me about.
- I've been told to get 2 quotes, but builders won't even show up when they hear it's an insurance job.

Some of the challenges associated with managing your own Insurance Claim

When you make a claim, your insurer often expects you to take on the task of finding builders and collecting quotes. It will also be up to you or your builder to accurately list the items that the insurer will agree to pay for. Additionally, you will have to interact with loss adjusters, whose primary responsibility is to the insurance company.

As part of the process, you will be expected to organise the repairs to your property, oversee tradespeople, and address any requests for additional work at the conclusion of the job. It's also worth noting that if issues arise months after the building work has been completed, insurers may distance themselves from the problem by attributing it to the builders who performed the work.

Here's how we can assist you with your Insurance Claim:

- Safeguarding Your Interests: You have the legal right to select an independent representative and are not obliged to utilise your insurance company's contractors or their drying companies.
- Expert Claim Presentation: Our team is knowledgeable about the specific details that insurance companies need to validate and assess the costs of repairing damages. This enables us to assist you in obtaining a fair settlement.
- Comprehensive and Detailed Quotes: Our quotes provide a highly detailed breakdown of costs for each item individually. This often leads to insurers settling claims without requiring additional quotes.
- Efficient Repair Management: We aim to commence and conclude repair works as efficiently as possible by overseeing all stages of the building process, offering you a comprehensive solution.
- Quality Assurance: Our tradespeople undergo comprehensive vetting, and we guarantee all work for 12 months. If there are any issues related to our work within that time frame, we will rectify them free of charge.

Concept Claim Solutions will assist you with your claim from the time you have reported it to your insurer, right through to the satisfactory completion of all repairs.
